The Ministry of Human Resource Development is striving hard to bring in changes in Higher Education sector. It has plans to introduce Higher Education Evaluation and Regulation Authority (HEERA) which will be a single regulator for Higher education in the country. UGC, AICTE and NCTE will be shut down once HEERA becomes functional.

Another significant development initiated by MHRD is National Institutional Ranking Framework (NIRF) which gives ranking for Higher Educational Institutions. Based on the recommendations of the Core Team constituted by MHRD, NIRF was launched in 2016. NIRF has evolved a methodology by identifying several parameters for ranking the institutions. These parameters are indentified keeping in mind the global educational standards. Research, Infrastructure, Teaching and Learning are the main areas of focus in assessing the institutions.

NIRF has already released the ranking list for national institutions in 2016 and 2017. Despite the criticisms, the ranking methodology motivates the institutions to make every effort to achieve excellence and face the global competence. As of now, MHRD has made NIRF a voluntary exercise for the institutions. But, soon it will be made mandatory. Hence, it is the right time to gear up to face the NIRF assessment.

The Department of English, organised a talk by Smt. Brinda Adige on 'Women's safety in the context of human trafficking,' on 23rd January 2018 at Mangala Mantapa. Smt. Brinda Adige, Director of Global Concerns India, was welcomed by the Principal, Dr.Snehalatha G Nadiger.

Smt. Adige, elaborating on the features of gender based violation said,

"In our mind we have been gendered from childhood" and made us see how "dress is just an excuse" for the violence, women are subjected to. She gave the statistics on unequal sex ratio and an insight into the grave realities of human trafficking and various reasons for which it can be resorted to. Women and children around the world are exploited for the purpose of organ trafficking, skin grafting and prostitution, she noted. She shared her experiences of some rescue operations conducted to save these victims and about some of her interactions with these victims. She lauded the unrecognized work of women and women's rights and said we must be more responsible and aware and take active part in the society.

A vote of thanks was rendered by Prof. Avaneeja, faculty, Department of English.

Students participated in the 'Care and Share Day' on 4th Aug, 2018 organized by the Department of Sociology.

A MERE MORTAL TO A HISTORICAL FIGURE....

RUTUJA II BA

There have been many retellings of popular stories and myths from a newer and fresher perspective. While most of them have been focused on the lives of the Pandavas and the Kauravas, Chitra Banerjee Divakaruni provides to us an insight on the life of Draupadi. In the book, which is a narrative from Panchali's perspective the reader is reminded that she is mentally and emotionally strong and passionate while still embracing imperfections, that makes her a more relatable character.

The Palace Of Illusions sets itself apart as a bildungsroman portraying Draupadi's intense desire to learn which helps adapt to her situation while still attempting to maintain a distinctive identity. As a child, we see that Draupadi feels very insecure about her dark complexion and herself and lives in the shadow of her brother Dhrishtadyumna. However, her dear friend Krishna advises "A problem becomes a problem only if you believe it to be so. And often others see you as you see yourself." This makes her change her outlook towards life. She doesn't let the predisposed picture painted for her cloud her judgment. Frankly, a lot of us could emulate.

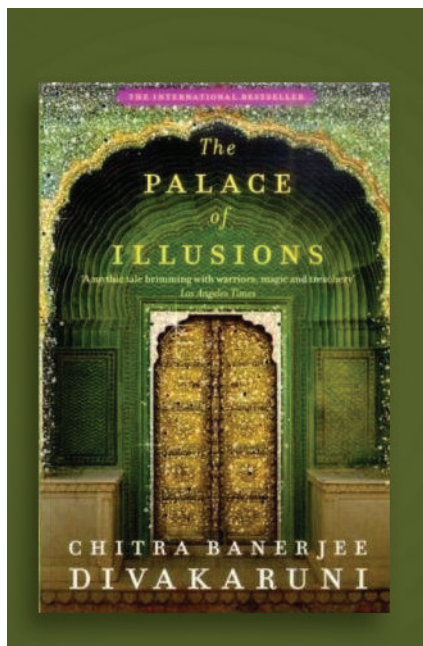

Book Review

AUTHOR:

DIVAKARUNI

She is curious, fascinated by the idea of femininity and masculinity intermingling. When she meets Shikhandi she exhibits a sense of awe at both the strength and grace Shikhandi represents. In the brief passage, extending only three or four pages our protagonist begins to slowly grapple with the idea of sexuality, seemingly unorthodox gender norms and a new idea of the elements femininity embodies. Strength, self-respect, curiosity and compassion just to name a few, elements that we see evolving gradually till it crescendos into a fierce and intellectually empowered woman by the end of the book.

Another instance outlines the incident of the 'vastraharan' where her feelings are an amalgamation of anger towards her molester Dushassan and betrayal by her five husbands, Karna [who she secretly adored], Bhishma and Dhritarashtra. To give the scene a sense of duality she refers to herself as a 'helpless woman'.

Never has a book been more topically relevant. It's fairly recent and the conversation around topics of women empowerment, gender norms, sexuality, individuality and the challenges social engineering bring to the fairer sex keep the reader hooked on.

NEVER SAY DIE . . .

Film Review

FILM REVIEW: HICHKI

DIRECTED AND WRITTEN BY:
SIDDHARTH MALHOTRA

STAR CAST
RANI MUKHERJI, SHIVKUMAR SUBRAMANIAM, NEERAJ KABI.

Hichki, a comedy drama, directed by Sidharth Malhotra and produced by Maneesh Sharma under the banner Yash Raj Films, is an official adaptation of Brad Cohen's book "Front of the class: How Tourette Syndrome Made Me the Teacher I Never Had" with a substantially changed storyline. Brad's autobiography revolves around him grappling with Tourette syndrome since childhood, and his relationship with his father. While Rani's character Naina Mathur also has unresolved issues with her father but the additional notable plot is her trying to go out of her way to help underprivileged students. This comeback movie of Rani Mukherji made an impact in the box office and got a positive response.

Naina Mathur's neurological disorder results in involuntary movements and tics. Though interested in teaching she gets rejected for about 18 times due to her condition. She finally receiving an offer to teach at St. Notker's School makes her ecstatic but after having arrived at her job, she realizes that she has to teach a bunch of unruly kids, who live on the 'wrong' side of the city.

As the story progresses, Naina faces many challenges – within her job and with her father. Her father never having accepted her condition continues to advise her to leave the teaching job. But after seeing how Naina, even with her disability, has managed to change the life of her students, he begins to realize his fault. Even Naina in her journey to help her students realizes that she is just like her students, a creative misfit.

Hichki also puts a spotlight on our education system and its unspoken class and hierarchal system. The students of 9 'F' are solely discriminated because of their class and for the place they live. Even though they have the ability to outsmart other students, they are not given the opportunity to do so until Naina comes into their lives.

Rani Mukherjee has done a fantastic job as Naina Mathur. Her mother [Supriya Pilgaonkar] and younger brother [Hussain Dalal], throughout the plot, believe in her and treat her as an equal. The negative shade of Mr. Wadia [Neeraj Kabi] is transformed at the end.

Synthesis of 2-[1H-indol-2-yl(1H-indol-3-yl)methyl] phenol and Its Application in Aqueous Rechargeable Lithium-Ion Batteries, Vijeth R. Shetty, Anil Kumar, G. S. Suresh, K. M. Mahadevan, ChemistrySelect 2018, 3, 8363–8372

Reduced MWCNTs/Palladium Nanotubes Hybrid Fabricated on Graphite Electrode for Simultaneous Detection of Ascorbic Acid, Dopamine and Uric Acid" Chinnakurli Dwarakanath Shruthi, Yarradoddappa Venkataramanappa, and Gurukar Shivappa Suresh, Journal of the Electrochemical Society, 165 (10) B1-B8 (2018).

Naphthol bis-indole derivatives as anode material for aqueous rechargeable Lithium-ion batteries” R. Anil Kumar, Vijeth R. Shetty, G. S. Suresh, K. M. Mahadevan, Advanced Material Letters, 9 (2018), 823-830.

Triclinic LiVPO₄F/C cathode for aqueous rechargeable lithium-ion batteries” Rangaswamy Puttaswamy, Suresh Gurukar Shivappa, Mahadevan Kittappa Malavalli, Yanjerappa Arthoba Nayaka, Advanced Material Letters, 2018, DOI: 10.5185/amlett.2018.2141

Dr. G S Suresh, Vijeth R. Shetty, Anil Kumar R and K. M. Mahadevan, presented a research paper (Oral) titled “Electrochemical manifestation of Indole derivative for Rechargeable Lithium Battery” in an international conference on Electrochemistry in advanced materials, corrosion and radiopharmaceuticals (CEAMCR-2018), at DAE Convention Centre, Anushaktinagar, Bhabha Atomic Research Centre, Mumbai, India in the month of Feb 2018.

Dr G S Suresh, Madhushree M. R, Chaithra. M, Vijeth R. Shetty, presented a research paper (Poster) titled “Aurin tricarboxylic acid: An Organic Anode material for Rechargeable lithium batteries” at Two day National Conference on Advanced Material for health, Energy and Environment AMHEE-2018, at JSS Science and Technology University, Mysore on 23rd and 24th Mar -2018.

They also presented a research paper titled “Phenyl styryl ketone as an anode electrode material for aqueous rechargeable lithium batteries” at Two day National Conference on Advanced Material for health, Energy and Environment AMHEE-2018, at JSS Science and Technology University, Mysore on 23rd and 24th Mar -2018.

They presented a research paper titled “Organic Anode material for Rechargeable Lithium Batteries” at National Conference on Non-Conventional Energy Sources-the need of the hour NCES-2018, Sri Siddaganga College of Arts, Science and Commerce, in Feb-2018.

Dr. G S Suresh, Chaithra M, Vijeth R Shetty presented a research paper titled “An Aromatic Ketone as Anode Electrode material for Aqueous Rechargeable Lithium Batteries” at National Conference on Non-Conventional Energy Sources-the need of the hour NCES-2018, Sri Siddaganga College of Arts, Science and Commerce, in Feb-2018.

Dr. G S Suresh, Anil Kumar R, K. M. Mahadevan and Vijeth R Shetty presented a research paper titled “Aldehyde Based Indole Derivative as an Anode Material for Aqueous Rechargeable Lithium Battery” at National Conference on Non-Conventional Energy Sources-the need of the hour NCES-2018, Sri Siddaganga College of Arts, Science and Commerce, in Feb-2018.

Dr. G S Suresh, Chaithra M, Vijeth R Shetty presented a research paper titled “An Azo dye: Organic Electrode materials for Aqueous Rechargeable Lithium Batteries” at 10th Annual Conference of Karnataka Science and Technology Academy 2018, jointly KSTA and REVA University, Bangalore held in the month of Jan 2018.

Dr. G S Suresh, Vijeth R. Shetty, Anil Kumar R, and K. M. Mahadevan presented a research paper titled “Electrochemical Manifestation of Lithium Salt of 3-((2,7a-dihydro-1H-indol-3-yl)(3a,7a-dihydro-1H-indol-3-yl)methyl)-1H-indole for Rechargeable lithium Battery” at 10th Annual Conference of Karnataka Science and Technology Academy 2018, jointly KSTA and REVA University, Bangalore held in the month of Jan 2018.

Dr. P N Prashanth Kumar presented a research paper titled “Studies on photo catalytic degradation of pathogenic bacteria using functionalized Cu (II) 1,2-Dihydroxybenzenecyano acetic acid-ZnO Nano films” (poster) in Kuvempu University on occasion of two day national conference (RBCBMS-2018) on 9th and 10th February 2018.

Dr. G S Suresh delivered a talk on “Nanoparticles: From fundamentals to applications” at the One day National Seminar on Early Mammalian Embryo Requirement of Nutrients and Nanoparticles at Smt. VHD Central Institute of Homescience, Bangalore on 10th March 2018.

DR. G S Suresh also delivered a talk on “An Overview on electrode materials for Rechargeable Lithium Ion Batteries” at the Two day National Conference on Advanced Material for health, Energy and Environment AMHEE-2018 at JSS Science and Technology University, Sri Jayachamarajendra College of Engineering, Mysuru on 23rd and 24th March 2018.

BOTANY

A workshop was conducted by Prof. Shailaja Suresh on “Ayurvedic formulations and Home remedies” on 19th Jan 2018.
